

AS BC BATTLES WITH HEAT WAVES OF FIRE, FRASER SOUTH TAKES ACTION

As British Columbia continues to battle the heat and waves of fire, we thought to share an inspiring story we hope may spark a larger movement.

Only a few days ago the small town of Lytton, BC was ravaged by wildfire forcing the entire community to evacuate immediately. The devastation left residents of Lytton without a place to call home.

In an effort to assist the people and families of Lytton, City Electric Supply donated over $2,000 of supplies which included children's clothing, blow up mattresses, chairs, toiletries, diapers, baby food, strollers and other necessities like underwear and socks.

Along with these items, Nick (District Manager) and Sharon Reeder collected other local donations to drop off in the Boston Bar area where the majority of displaced families are staying.
